* Windows 7 as well as any computer having Roxio or Nero software automatically burns "ISO" files. Just double-click on the file. Otherwise, download a free burner at http://infrarecorder.sourceforge.net
** Most computers will boot directly from a cdrom that's in the drive when the computer is turned on. If not, sometimes there's a "boot" key shown on the startup screen. (like F8 or F12) If you still have trouble check out https://help.ubuntu.com/community/BootFromCD.
